Select Poetry.

There'll be no more Sorrow There.

Come sing to me of heaven,
When I am called to die;
Sing songs of holy ecstacy,
To waft my soul on high.

There'll be no more sorrow there,
There'll be no more sorrow there,
In heaven above where all is love;
There'll be no more sorrow there.

When cold and sluggish drops,
Roll off my marble brow;
Break forth in songs of joyfulness,
Let heaven begin below.
Chorus.

Then to my raptured ears
Let one sweet song be given;
Let music charm me last on earth,
And greet me first in heaven.
Chorus.

When the last moments come,
O, watch my dying face;
To catch the bright seraphic glow,
Which in each feature plays.
Chorus.

Then close my sightless eyes,
And lay me down to rest;
And clasp my cold and icy hands,
Upon my lifeless breast.
Chorus.

When 'round my lifeless clay,
Assemble those I love;
Then sing of heaven, delightful heaven,
My glorious home above.
Chorus.

A THRILLING STORY.

An Incident of the Massacre of Wyoming.

It was a night of blood and fire—a night of oaths and shrieks—a night of prayers and curses.

It was a night never to be forgotten.

It was a time when old men and aged women, young men and maidens, and children of all ages, from the suckling infant upwards, were being brutally murdered. It was a time when long endeavored homes were being devoured up by the flames of a fierce conflagration. It was a time when inhuman savages and equally inhuman white men were gloating their fiendish passions with deeds which the pen of man could hardly conceive—which the Recording Angel has registered in the great book of eternal life—which all the tears of all the hosts of Heaven can never wipe out.

It was a dark time in the valley of Wyoming—a period of brutal and remorseless massacre.

Who has not heard of that terrible event in the history of America? Is there a loyal man or woman who has not felt their blood run cold and chilly through their veins, when the memory of that scene of carnage and devastation has been recalled to their minds? Point me to one such, and I will show you a being who is lost to every attribute of humanity.

If it were not impious to curse at all, I could well find it in my heart to curse the butchers of Wyoming—to heap up maledictions on their heads until they towered heavenward, even to the throne of the Omnipotent.

But God is just, and the bloody deeds which at that time outraged Heaven have yet to be attoned for, and in a manner that will fully indicate the sublime justness of the Great Judge on high.

And not only will they have to answer for it, whose hands were on that occasion so deeply steeped in innocent blood, but even so will they have to answer for it who encouraged and set them on. Even so will he be called on whose high handed tyranny provoked the war, and whose myrmidons but executed his will, when they instigated American Indians and American tories to perpetrate such fearful deeds as the one which, upon that dark night, raised such a shriek of horror in the beautiful Valley of Wyoming.

Stand forth George the Third! Stand forth, butchers of Wyoming active and passive! What answer will ye make to the Lord God of Heaven in the last great day of final reckoning?

Let us go back, my reader, to that night of 1778.

The massacre was at its height. Everywhere there was fire, fire, fire—everywhere blood flowed in streams. Groans, shrieks, prayers, and curses loaded the air. Redskins, and white renegades, dressed and painted to resemble their savage confederates, were wildly rushing about from point to point, committing deeds almost too horrible for belief. The fiendish butchers of Wyoming were revelling in a saturnalia of blood.

In the parlor of a neat little house as yet untouched by the flames, as yet undesecrated by the lawless footsteps of the human butchers who were rendering the night hideous, three persons were assembled. One was a white-headed old man, another a white headed old woman, and the third, a beautiful young girl, of not more than eighteen years of age. The old man's name was John Habner. The venerable lady was his wife, and the young girl was their orphan grandchild. Her name was Mary Morton, and for many years she had resided with her aged grandparents.

As may well be supposed, all things considered, these three persons were in great tribulation. A bloody death stared them in the face, as they could not contemplate their fearful fate with anything like calmness.

Old Mrs. Habner and Mary Morton were weeping and moaning wringing their hands, and alternately embracing each other; and old Mr. Habner was tottering up and down the room, a picture of the deepest distress.

Suddenly the wife arrested his steps by saying—

"Father, father, it is too dreadful to stay here and be murdered! Don't you think we might escape if we were to try?"

"It would be but precipitating our fate, wife," was the tremulous reply. "We should not know which way to turn, and more than likely, should run into the greatest danger the first thing. We must bear the worst, which will come soon enough, knowing and believing that the Lord does all things for the best—bear it too, we had better, with as few vain regrets as possible. For ourselves, we have but little to lament, for at the best the sands of our lives are nearly run out; but here is Mary in the bloom of youth and health, and for her sake I feel the deepest sorrow of all, as I know you do too."

Mrs. Habner was weeping to violently to utter any reply.

"God bless you grand-parents?" said Mary, tremulously, at the same time alternately embracing the old people. "God bless your dear, goods hearts and reward you. But don't fret about me. I have not been so wicked that I should fear to die, and yet I am no better than others that I should expect any greater degree of mercy. The world is fair, but Heaven is fairer still, and I will try to be resigned."

"I would that we could all escape!" said Mr. Habner; "but since we cannot, let us meet death as becomes Christian people, innocent of any crime. Even in this dreadful hour, let us kneel down and join in prayer."

Side by side, the two old people and their pretty grandchild bent their knees, and, in earnest, fervent tones, Mr. Habner supplicated Heaven in behalf of his helpless wife, of helpless Mary, and himself, concluding his heartfelt petition with a fervid and glowing appeal for his desolated country and suffering countrymen.

Meanwhile, the sounds of the turmoil had been gradually approaching Mr. Habner's house, and even while the last word lingered upon the old man's tongue, a sudden assault was made upon every door and window of the building.

All started.

"Do not move, wife, nor you, Mary," said Mr. Habner, recovering himself somewhat. "Let us meet death upon our knees, and with our hands uplifted to the throne of mercy. We could not perish in a better cause—for we are about to die for our love of country. God in Heaven bless America!—nor could we yield up our lives in an attitude more acceptable to our Maker."

Silently, all three remained in the same prayerful position.

The next moment, several of the doors and windows were suddenly burst open, and, with loud yells and curses, a gang of painted tories dashed into the apartment.

"Cum, you cussed rebels, git up there!" shouted one who appeared to be the leader.

"O Lord, have mercy on us!" murmured Mr. Habner, without heeding the furious renegade.

"O Lord, have mercy on us!" repeated Mrs. Habner, in choked tones.

"O, Lord, have mercy on us!" added Mary Morton, tremulously, but earnestly.

"Wal, if ye won't git up, cuss ye, take it there, then!" yelled the tory, madly.—"Hurra for King George, an' death to the blasted rebels!"

With the spring of a wild beast, eager for its prey, he dashed at Mr. Habner the next moment scattering the old man's brains in all directions. At the same time, another sprang at Mrs. Habner and with brutal ferocity, served her in a like manner. A third seized Mary Morton by the hair of the head, but just as he was about to execute his dastardly purpose, the report of a rifle rang out, and he fell dead by her side.

The tories hesitated and gazed around them but could not discover where the shot came from, and so expressed themselves.

At the same time, Mary Morton lost consciousness, and fell prone to the floor.

All this happened nearly at the same time.

"That was a chance shot, I guess," cried the leader, a notorious renegade, an' as there's plenty o'work yet to do, I'll finish this job at wunce."

The outlaw stepped quickly toward Mary, and, bending over her, was just in the act of laying hands on her person, when another report rang out and he fell dead.

The butchering tories looked amazed, but at length, one of their number, a little clearer-headed than the rest, cried out;

"That shot comes from outside the back window, I'll swear!"

The villian stepped quickly toward a back window, but had not advanced three paces when another report rang out, and he, too fell dead.

This time, every one in the room saw where the deadly shot came from.

"The cuss is out there!" was the general cry, and for a moment forgetful of Mary Morton, the whole gang dashed out the back part of the house.

Scarcely had they well quitted the room, when a handsome and athletically-built young man glided in by the open front way, and quickly lifting up the unconscious girl, crept away to the back entrance. As he paused at the rear door to listen a moment, the tories re-entered the house by the front, having made a vain and fruitless circuit of the building. The hidden markesman they had not found, nor any trace of him, for the hidden markesman was the young man who carried off Mary Morton. His name was Harvey Moore and he had long admired sweet Mary in secret, but up to the eventful period of which I am writing, he had not made an open declaration of his feelings.

A braver, stronger, cooler man in the hour of danger, could nowhere be found, and on that night of blood and massacre, he proved his abilities to the utmost.—Many a brutal, treacherous renegade, many a bloody and remorseless savage, fell dead to the ground beneath the powerful blows of his good right arm, or the unerring aim of his deadly pointed rifle.

Mary Morton was in good hands—doubly so, because the young man loved her better than his own life.

Soon after re-entering the house, the tories were made aware of the removal of the young girl, and vented their ugly feelings in cursing her and her rescuer.

After appropriating what small valuables they could lay their hands on, the renegades fired the building, and sallied forth to enact over again the same hellish deed.

Meanwhile, by the most stealthy and cautious movements possible, Harvey Moore had succeeded in bearing Mary Morton almost beyond the limits of the bloody scene. Several times they had been nearly discovered, but the Almighty seemed with them, and at opportune moments, the danger was turned aside.

In a secluded spot Harvey stopped, for Mary was beginning to revive.

"Where am I?" cried the poor girl, as the young man rested her gently and tenderly on the ground "My God!" she added, suddenly recollecting herself, "what a fearful scene! Blood! Blood! Blood!—the blood of my aged and defenceless grand-parents! O, I see it all now—see the brutal butchers at their terrible work! I expected to die too, and yet I am alive and——"

"Safe, Mary!" broke in Harvey Moore, speaking for the first time, "I managed to get you away before the infernal fiends had accomplished their bloody purpose."

"Is it you, Harvey? and have you saved me?" exclaimed Mary, as she clasped his hand and kissed it. "God bless you! for life is sweet to every one, and none the less so to me."

What the young man would have replied I cannot say for, at that moment, three fierce looking savages, covered from head to foot with blood, burst suddenly upon them from a patch of woods near by.

Mary screamed, and Harvey uttered an exclamation of surprise.

With the spring of wild beasts, the Indians rushed at them. The foremost of the three attempted to close with Harvey, but the young man dashed his brains out before he had a chance to accomplish his purpose. The next moment, the other two bounded up, and Harvey could not keep out of their grip.

Up to this moment the young man had kept himself between Mary and the savages, but fearful that she might now get injured, or himself overpowered, he called on her to fly.

"No, no, Harry, I cannot leave you under such circumstances," responded Mary. "Would I could help you. Tell me, can I do nothing for you?"

Meantime, the young man and the Indians were engaged in a fierce and deadly struggle.

"Nothing, Mary?" responded Harvey. "If you were a man, you might knife one of these fellows, but as it is, you had better fly."

Mary did not reply, for her woman's wit was at work, endeavoring to conjure out some plan that would aid Harvey.

Suddenly she started, uttered a loud cry, and exclaimed, quickly,—

"Look there! there they come!"

So quick and natural was the exclamation, that it threw the Indians off their guard and perfectly understanding the words, they turned round to see what was coming, in that way showing Harvey a more decided advantage. For a moment, the young man himself was deceived, but the next instant he comprehended the ruse, and turning suddenly upon the savages, buried his knife in their bosoms in rapid succession.

The young girl uttered an exclamation of joy, when she saw the Indians fall to the earth.

"Mary, your presence of mind has no doubt saved my life," exclaimed Harvey, as he took the young girl's hand, "for two brawny savages like those would have been too much for me without some help, and now, my girl, let us move farther away from this fatal spot, for it seems we are not yet safe."

Mary was not loth to comply with the young man's directions, and they at once started forward, eventually reaching a place of safety, where Harvey left the young girl, and returned again to the scene of the massacre, in hope of being of some further service.

A few years subsequent, Mary Morton was united to Harvey Moore, and it was from the lips of one of their descendants that I learned the particulars of the event which I have just related.

Where the Laugh Comes in.

Bunce's and Sizer's farms adjoined each other. Sizer had an unruly sheep which was in the habit of getting into Bunce's field. Bunce expostulated with Sizer several times, and then told him if he did not keep his sheep at home, he would fix him so he would'nt jump any more fences. But Bunce soon found the sheep back again, so he caught him, and with a knife severed the cuticle or skin just beyond the gambrill joint, and between the main cord and bone, then thrust the other hind leg through the aperture, then put the sheep back over the fence, who went hobbling on three legs. Sizer soon after discovered the sad plight his sheep was in, and he knew very well who was the cause of it, but he concluded to take things coolly, and await some suitable opportunity to revenge himself. Presently Bunce's old sow broke in Sizer's field, when he caught her, and with a sharp knife almost cut her mouth from ear to ear, and turned her back. Bunce discovered this, he went to Sizer, in a great rage, and demanded what he did that for. Sizer said, "upon my word neighbor Bunce, I didn't do any such thing.—Your old sow split her mouth laughing at my sheep through the fence!"—Syracuse Standard.

MISTAKES IN PER CENTAGE.—Mistakes are often made by persons not business men in calculating per centage. If a merchant marks his goods for sale at retail at 50 per cent advance, and 33⅓ per cent, be afterwards deduced from the market price, he sells at cost, (because 33⅓ per cent of $1,50 is exactly 50 cents, the profit on $1.) If he sells goods at 25 per cent above cost, and deducts 5 per cent from the bill for cash, his profits are 18¾ per cent, and not 20 per cent, as some persons at first sight would suppose.—Goods have been sometimes sold at a loss through mistakes in per centage.

☞ The rowdy is a terrible nuisance. Hear how the poor Dutch landlord described his sufferings at the hands of one of these amiable beings:—"Ter rowdy comed in and axed me to sell him some peer. I tells him he had more as would do him goot. He call me von old Dutch liar, and pegin to broke two tumplers.—My vife sho call for de vatch 'ouse. 'Fore de vatch 'ouse got dare, de rowdy he kick Hans Scruggle pehint his pack, kissed my taughter Petsy pefore her face, proke all ter tumplers cept ter ole stone pitcher, and spilt my vife and todder peer parrels down inter ter cellar.

☞ Horace Greely writes from Big Sandy, Oregon, July 6, that "white men with two or three squaws each are quite common throughout the region, young and relatively comely Indian girls are bought from their fathers by white men as regularly and openly as Circassians at Constantinople. The usual range of prices is from $40 to $80—about that of Indian horses. I hear it stated that though all other trades may be dull, that in young squaws is always brisk on Green River and the North Platte."

☞ A sharp student was called up by the worthy Professor of a celebrated college, and asked the question,

"Can a man see without eyes?"

"Yes, sir," was the answer.

"How, sir," cried the amazed Professor, "can a man see without eyes? Pray, sir, how do you make that out?"

"He can see with one, sir," replied the ready witted youth; and the whole class shouted with delight at his triumph over metaphysics.

☞ "Every dog has its day," and every day has its dog. The cheat, the dishonest politician, the hypocrite, and the toady, are each the dog of the day—they bark, snarl, growl, or whine through it, and then each one, with his tail behind his hinder means of locomotion, sneaks quietly off into his kennel of obscurity.

☞ The best definition we ever heard of "bearing false witness against your neighbor," was given by a little girl in school. She said it was when nobody did nothing, and somebody went and told about it.

THE TONNAGE TAX SUIT.—The Harrisburg Telegraph says:—The trial of the suit caused by the refusal of the Pennsylvania Railroad to continue the payment of the tonnage tax will probably come up to-morrow (yesterday.) From this the State has hitherto been deriving a revenue of some three hundred thousand dollars per annum. The road having refused to pay it, a suit is the consequence. The road will fight the suit until it reaches the Supreme Court of the United States, should they loose the verdict of the trial this week. The Attorney General, St. George Tucker Campbell and Wm. A. Porter are retained on the part of the Commonwealth. The attorneys for the road, Messrs. Stanton, Cuyler and Kunkel, have strong hopes of gaining their case.—They will come out flatfooted for the unconstitutionality of the tax. The North American, in noticing the matter, says:

"We are inclined to think that, in contesting this suit, the Attorney-General and Mr. Campbell will find dusty traveling. Having "got its back up," the road is determined to carry matters through, and show that two wrong do not make a right, nor ever will. Whoever happens to be in Harrisburg during the progress of the case, will hear some thousand dollar speeches of the very stiffest kind."

RIDING ON THE COW-CATCHER.—Since Willis' description of his cow-catcher exploit on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, many fool-hardy passengers have solicited the conductors on that great thoroughfare to allow them to try the sensation. A day or two since, a lady and gentlemen insisted upon taking a jaunt on the cow-catcher of a train coming west.—Their request was granted at last, and the train being slightly behind time, they were carried along in this unprotected way at the rate of fifty miles an hour.—When relieved from their position, they could not have been pursuaded to try the sensation a second time. The train had not gone two miles further, when the pilot struck a cow and shouldered it. If the passengers had continued to occupy their position, they must have been killed.

☞ The latest advices from Europe state that Prussia is continuing her military preparations on a very large scale.—She has not only armed her flying artillery with rifled six pounders, and her whole artillery on foot with twelve-pounders, but is going now to raise her infantry of the line from sixty-four to one hundred regiments, which will increase her field army to about four hundred and fifty thousand, not including the "Landwehr" of the second levy, which is destined exclusively for garrisoning the twenty-eight Prussian fortresses. Prussia, like England does not seem to have any extraordinary amount of faith in the French Emperor.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORIAL CONFERENCE.—The Democratic Conferees of this Senatorial District, met at Tyrone on Thursday last. Dr. R. W. Christy, of this county, was chosen Chairman and Cyrus L. Pershing, of Cambria, and James Larimer, of Clearfield, Secretaries. Maj. Theodore Snyder, of this county, Augustin Durbin, of Cambria, and Wm. A. Wallace, of Clearfield, were nominated for Senator. 220 ballots were had without making a nomination, at this time Maj. Snyder withdrew his name, and on the 221st ballot the vote stood 5 for Durbin, and 3 for Wallace. Mr. Durbin having received a majority of all the votes cast was thereupon declared the nominee.

☞ Maj. A. J. Donelson died recenly in Louisiana, of erysipelas. Mr Donelson was formerly the private secretary of President Jackson, and editor of the Washington Globe; and subsequently of the Union. In 1856 he was a candidate of the American party for Vice President. He removed from Tennessee to Louisiana.

THE LAST MILLION SURRENDERED.—The last bond for a million of dollars, deposited in the Treasury Department by the Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company, for the faithful performance of the stipulations entered into with the State when they purchased the State canals, has been surrendered to that company by order of the Governor. As we previously announced, Messrs. Daugherty and Hague of Harrisburg, and Mitchel of Clinton, were appointed a board of viewers to examine the progress of the work between Erie and Warren, on the Western Division, and report whether the road was in proper condition. They reported in the affirmative, and consequently the State relinquished the last security in her possession for the completion of the work.

☞ Twenty-six clergyman, of Philadelphia, (Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, German Reformed and Dutch Reformed,) have united in an address to "Christians of all denominations," in which they propose that the first Monday in October next be set apart as a day of special prayer "that God would grant that his believing children may be made perfect in one, and that by the operation of the Holy Ghost, all Christians may be so joined together in unity of spirit, and in the bond of peace, that they may be an holy temple, acceptable unto Him."

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ Closed—the eyes of several people in town lately with bogus gold dollars.

☞ Increasing—the dimensions of crinoline on our streets.

☞ Decreasing—the demand for linen coats and other summer toggery.

☞ Reasonable—the price of tomatoes.

☞ Unreasonable—to expect a printer to furnish his paper to subscribers who never pay for it.

☞ Empty—the honor of being a candidate for a fat office when there is no earthly chance of an election.

☞ The Huntingdon American of last week says that two men while plowing in a field 6 miles from that place, turned up a nest of snakes, and after fifteen minutes hard labor succeeded in killing eighty-two—sixty-two vipers and 20 blacksnakes. Also, that a Mr. Hampton, while quarrying stones in Franklin township, came on a nest of copperheads, and, with a club, killed one hundred and eight of them. "Sum Snix."

☞ The Newport Gazette of last week, says: "We are happy to learn from credible authority, that what we state din our last week's issue, in regard to L. Bartow, former Telegraph Operator of this place has proved incorrect. We deem this due Mr. I. Bartow, the father of L. Bartow, as he is a gentleman in every respect, both as a conductor and citizen."

☞ Mrs. Partingdon says that when she was a gal she used to go to parties, and always had a beau to extort her home; but how she says the galls undergo all sprts of declivities, the tark of extorting them home revolves on their dear selves. The old lady drew down her specs and thanked her stars that she had lived in other days, when men could depreciate the worth of the femalo sex.

☞ A correspondent of the Miltonian says he found the following notice nailed to a tree in Union county:

If the writer can not "shute" any straighter than he can "spell," he is not very dangerous.

Blondin's Latest Feat.

Blondin has given another exhibition on the rope at Niagara, which exceeds in daring anything that he has yet attemped. After first crossing to the Canada side, laden with fetters, he started back with a cook stove swung on his back, the culinary appurtennnces thereto, consisting of saucepan, ladle, sundry dishes, and a pair of bellows securely fastened upon the stove. It must not be imagined that the stove he bore upon his back was a full-sized cast iron "Victor," neither must it be fancied a miniature affair—a disguised spirit-lamp chafing dish. It was a goodly sized, properly-fashioned cooking stove, made of Russia sheet iron, and boasting of a smoke-pipe about two feet in height.—Arrived at the centre of the rope Blondin secured his pole and proceeded with nonchalance to make preparations for "camping." Unslinging his stove he placed it upon the rope before him, sat down, and with some pitchey, combustible material built his fire, exciting it with the bellows, and soon raising a smoke which proved the genuineness of the preparations for cooking. When a proper degree of heat had been attained, he produced his eggs, broke them into his dish and threw the shells into the river. The omelet was prepared with all the skill of a chef de cuisine, and when it was complete he lowered it to the deck of the Maid of the Mist, where, we doubt not, it was divided into the smallest possible shares, and eagerly treasured by the passengers. Gathering up his "hotel," Blondin re-adjusted it upon his back, and quickly landed himself and it upon the American shore, amid the loud cheers of the throng.

BRANDING FLOUR.—The editor of the New York Examiner has been sojourning in Rochester, where he visited one of the large flour mills, and was initiated into the mysteries of branding flour. He says:—"Branding to us poor outsiders has been a source of a good deal of mystery. In our simplicity, we have supposed that a brand was a true indication of the place where the flour was ground and the wheat it was made from. But this is an egregious error. There are tricks in all trades but ours. Only the very best flour is labeled by the name of the mill where it is ground. Inferior flour is branded Corinthian Mill, New Mill, or some other mill that is owned by the man of the moon. All these practices are known in the corn exchange as well as the mills, but to us poor consumers, who buy a barrel of flour once a quarter, it may not be uninteresting to know that all the best family flour is branded double extra superfine, with the real name of the mill and manufacturer. Genessee flour is as ubiquitous as Orange county milk, Goshen butter, or relics of the ship Constitution among the curious. Genessee flour is for the most part made from Western or Canada wheat.

HOW THEY PREDICT THE WEATHER AT THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE.—Professor Henry, at the Scientific Association, gave an account of the method pursued each day at the Smithsonian Institute, to record and predict the weather. They have a map of the United States hung upon a board, with pins stuck through at the points where the observers of the Institute are stationed. The Institute has daily reports by telegraph from many of these points. Each morning an assistants hangs a cord on the pins to indicate the state of the weather—black if raining, green if snowing, brown if cloudy, and white if fair. All storms travel east, and thus they are able to predict with great certainty the condition of the weather twelve hours in advance.

A BRIDGE CRACKING.—On the Cincinnati and Dayton Railroad, the other day, a lady and gentleman were seated together, and facing them on the opposite seat sat two gentleman, editors of two German papers. When near Dayton, the train passed through a long, dark bridge. Amid the thundering and rattling of the cars, a very suspicious concussion was heard by those nearest the lady and gentleman alluded to. As they emerged into the daylight, one of the German editors slowly drew his spectacles down over his nose, and exclaimed, "Vell, I tink dat ish a tam bad bridge. I hear him crack one, two, three, four times!"

☞ Some weeks since, Mr. Stalter, of Sloatsburgh, Rockland county, killed a large rattlesnake, which he carefully skinned. Some time afterward, he accidently cut his thumb with the knife he had used for the purpose, when his hand and arm began to swell. The family sent for a physician, who, not being informed of the facts of the case, prescribed for the swelling, and left. Mr. Stalter daily became worse, when the physician was again sent for, but found the unfortunate man past medical aid. Before he died, his body was covered with livid spots, resembling that on the snake he had killed.

More about Spurgeon.

Mr. Spurgeon, in preaching at Norwich last week, says the London Times of the 9th, indulged in some of his characteristic humor.—"Content," he said, "made our cup run over, while discontent knocked the bottom out."—The story which had recently appeared in the papers about his having a large fortune left him was a complete hoax; if he were to have a guinea for every falsehood told about him, he could build his great chapel very soon, and probably have enough left for a cathedral or two. * * * Christian men sometimes fell terribly foul of each other, like the two English ships which broadsided each other for hours in a mist without knowing that the British flag was flying at their mastheads. The lazy man was one of the biggest sinners on earth; if he did nothing else, he broke one of God's greatest commandments. There was a very strict Sabbatarian gardener, who was very hard upon his master about the observance of the Sabbath. His master said to him, "Why, you break the commandments yourself." "How?" said the gardener, "I don't work on a Sunday." "No," quoth the master, "nor any other day. Just repeat the commandment." The gardener obeyed, and when he came to "six days shalt thou labor and do all that thou hast to do," his master said, "There, stop there; that is as much a part of the commandment as that the "seventh day is the Sabbath.'" The stickling for sectarian distinctions was as absurd as if a hungry man about to eat some bread were told by a Churchman, "No bread like the tin loaf," or by a Methodist, "You must eat twists." The hungry man would say, "Give me some bread, and I will settle the shape afterwards." It jars somehow upon the feelings to see the copious reports which the country papers give of Mr. Spurgeon's "sermons," copiously interlarded with "laughter."

A MAN KILLED BY A ROOSTER.—About three weeks since, Henry Black, of this place, undertook to sever the head of a hen, when he was attacked by a rooster, which spured Mr. Black on the hand into an artery. The wound being deemed very slight, was not noticed until it became painful, when healing remedies were immediately applied. The sore was healed, or partly so, and Mr. B. considered himself able to resume his labors again. On the 13th inst., while Mr. B. was in company with one or two citizens, he was suddenly attacked with intense pain, accompanied by a sickening sensation at the heart, and he would have fallen, but for the timely aid rendered him by the citizens, who supported him to his home, where a scene of suffering commenced that it were impossible to describe. He continued to grow worse until the Tuesday following, when his pain became so great that his shrieks were heard at the distance of 400 yards. At this date a remarkable occurrence took place, which, though to the general reader may appear incredible, is fully verified by many who went to witness it. He drew his entire frame together as though to gain strength for the act, and his voice broke forth like the crowing of a rooster. This was repeated from time to time, and such was the similarity of voices that outside listeners, (for all couldn't gain admission,) asserted their belief that it was a rooster. During Mr. B's illness he had the best medical attendance, but withal the sufferer seemed destined to die from the effects of what was at first considered a trifle. After four days of indescribable suffering he died on Thursday last. Mr. Black leaves a widow and four children to mourn his death. —Newport Gazette.

A LIVING HEAD ON A DEAD BODY.—Mr. Archibald Campbell, a respectable farmer in the township of Camden East, while engaged in finishing a dwelling on his premesis, the scaffold gave way, and he was precipitated head foremost to the ground, and dislocated his neck; but very fortunately and mysteriously did not kill him. When his head was brought to its proper position, the vertibræ of the neck returned to their place with a dull but distinct snap. The whole body is paralyzed and dead from the neck downwards.—He is not capable of moving a muscle or experiencing the slightest pain Fortunately the nerves supplying the muscles used in respiration were not paralyzed, and he can breathe and live; had the injury of the spimal cord been a little higher, he would have died immediately. The sense of sight, hearing, smelling, &c., are normal, and his intellect is unimpaired. When last heard from, however, there were some indications of a return of sensation and the power of motion, and it is just possible that Mr. Campbell may partially recover.—Newburgh (C. W.) Index.

SINGULAR DISEASE.—The Gloucester (Mass.) Telegraph says that an unusual case of sickness is now in the hands of Dr. Haskell, of Rockport A boy, about five years of age, a son of Mr. Eben Knowlton, has contracted the disease of glanders by climbing in the stall where a horse affected with the disease had been kept, although it was not known at the time that the horse was affected. Cases of this kind are very rare, and most generally prove fatal. The present case is a very severe one, and will probably have a similar result.

☞ The Louisville Journal is advocating the construction of a railroad bridge across the Ohio at the head of the Falls, as entirely practicable. It is estimated that a double structure, with a track for locomotives and another for wagons, can be constructed for $800.000. The net work of railroads in the Northwest, it is claimed, would make their connections with the Louisville and Nashville Railroad—the great central highway to the South.

AN EVIDENCE OF HARD TIMES.—One night last week the corner-stone of the Lutheran Church, on Beaver creek, in this county, was removed, and the coin deposited therein at the time of the erection of the building, amounting to ninety cents, stolen. This is about the meanest theft that we have ever been called upon to record, and gives indubitable evidence of hard times or great rascality somewhere.—Hagerstoiwn (Md.) Herald.

☞ Rope-Walking, like whooping cough, is catching. Two boys at Brockport, New York, have learned to do it over the canal at that place, and propose now to walk over Black river, at Watertown, Jefferson county, New York, where it runs through a frightful chasm. This is Young America all over. No Frenchman can introduce anything here as the study of a lifetime, but some Yankee boy can compete with him successfully in sixty days.

NOVEL STATUTE.—The last Legislature of Michigan passed an act empowering any number of citizens, not less than ten nor more than one hundred, to organize themselves into a body corporate "for the purpose of apprehending horse-thieves and other felons," and investing each member of such a body, when engaged in making an arrest, with the powers of a constable.

☞ The great book publishing firm of Phillips, Sampson & Co., of Boston, will soon cease to be familiar, both Sampson and Phillips being dead. Mr. Charles Sampson died a few weeks since, and now we have from Boston intelligence of the death of Moses D. Phillips.

☞ Ice was formed at Somerset, Pa., one night last week, and clothes hung out to dry were frozen quite stiff.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The New York Courier and Enquirer, in an article in reference to the dispute between the managers of the four great lines of travel from the seaboard to the west, thus speaks of the route through Pennsylvania:

"Now it is no use for our New York Managers to shut their eyes to the facts. The route to the West by the Pennsylvania Central, and Ft. Wayne and Chicago lines, has features which will always make it a favorite throughfare, not the least of which is the beauty of the country which it traverses. Our wide land cannot present a richer agricultural scenery than is spread out all along the upper Susquehanna, nor more picturesque scenery than feasts the eye as the road winds its astonishing way over the high ridges of the Alleghenies. The scenery upon the Baltimore and Ohio road, which we have never traversed, may, perhaps, at particular points be on a somewhat grander scale, but the line of that road is too far South to bring into any such immediate competition with our New York routes. It is the Pennsylvania Central that is our most formidable rival."

A HUGE RATTLESNAKE KILLED.—A large rattlesnake, measuring some four or five feet, and having some twenty-seven rattles, was killed yesterday about two miles below town, by a party of boys, sons of Mr. B. Keegen. The reptile manifested a determination to die game, but the lads fortunately kept beyond reach of its fangs. It is thought to be one of the oldest and largest killed in this region for many a day. —Greensburg Dem. 25th ult.

CABIN POINT, Surry Co., Va.

Dr. Seth S. Hance:—I was in Baltimore in April, 1854, and from a paper I received of yours was induced to buy a box of your Pills, recommended as a sovereign cure for the Epileptic Fits. At that time one of my servants had been afflicted with fits about twelve years. When reaching home, I commenced with the Pills according to directions, I do not think she has had one since. My wife, though, is somewhat induced to believe she may have had one only. Enclosed you will find five dollars, for which you will please forward me two boxes. I suppose you can forward them by mail. Your compliance will oblige me. Yours respectfully, M. P. SLEDGE.

Dr. Hance's Epileptic Pills are also a sovereign remedy for every modification of nervous disease. The nervous sufferer, whether tormented by the acute, physical agony of neuralgia, ticdoloreaux, or ordinary headache, afflicted with vague terrors, weakened by periodical fits, threatened with paralysis, borne down and dispirited by that terrible lassitude which proceeds from a lack of nervous energy, or experiencing any other pain or disability arising from the unnatural condition of the wonderful machinery which connects every member with the source of sensation, motion and thought—derives immediate benefit from the use of those pills, which at once calms, invigorates, and regulates the shattered nervous organization.

Sent to any part of the country by mail, free of postage. Address Seth S. Hance, 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md. Price, one box, $3; two do., $5; twelve do, $24.

Diseases of the Liver.

When the celebrated Dr. Rush declared that drunkenness was a disease, he enunciated a truth which the experience and observation of medical men in every day confirming. The many apparently insane excesses of those who indulge in the use of spirituous liquors, may be thus accounted for. The true cause of conduct, which is taken for infatuation, is very frequently a diseased state of the Liver. No organ in the human system, when deranged, produces a more frightful catalogue of diseases. And if, instead of applying remedies to the manifestations of disease, as is too often the case, physicians would prescribe with a view to the original cause, fewer deaths would result from diseases induced by a deranged state of the Liver. Three-fourths of the diseases enumerated under the head of Consumption, have their seat in a diseased Liver. Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., are a certain cure.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, manufactured by FLEMING BROS. of Pittsburgh, Pa. All other Vermifuges in comparison are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine unless the signature of FLEMING BROS.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES—DR CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.—The combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, painful menstruations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, disturbed sleep, which always arise from interruption of nature, inducing with certainty periodical regularity. Warranted purely vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Explicit directions, which should be read, accompany each box. Price $1. Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poisons, Chilblains, Piles, Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one supplying a perfect antidote to its opposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR In its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

☞ Physicians are generally loth to speak a word in praise of what are called "patent medicines." Indeed, it is an article in the code of medical ethics, that a physician who sanctions the use of such remedies cannot be considered a member of the National Association. But there are exceptions to the most stringent rules, and many of the disciples of Esculapius have actually been compelled, by the force of facts, to recommend the use of DR. J. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, for those diseases which are particularly prevalent during the summer and fall.—They have ascertained that there are no remedies in the pharmacopia which can compare with this wonderful compound for derangement of the system. Thousands of families residing along the low grounds of the Western and Southern rivers, are now convinced that they have found a medicine peculiarly adapted for their ailments, while in other portions of the country, during the summer months, the demand for the article is equally large.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally.

LOCAL ITEMS.

THE AURORA BOREALIS.—The Northern Light, on Sunday night last, was the most magnificent specimen of this phenomenon ever witnessed in this region of country. It was truly indescribably beautiful; but, for the benefit of those of our readers who were so unfortunate as not to have witnessed it, we give the following as near as possible perfect description of the sublime sight, from the Phila. Bulletin:—

"The sun had set in a clear bright sky, and soon after dark a peculiar appearance, resembling twilight, was observed in the north. As the evening advanced the light became more intense, and it assumed a streaky appearance the lines of which were variegated with green, blue and crimson colors. These beautiful lights seemed to shoot up from the northern horizon. After a time they gathered in the centre of the heavens, rather south of the zenith, and from that point the rays diverged, covering the eastern, western and northern skies, and having the exact appearance of a canopy spread out over the sky and extending in arches of colored light to the horizon where it seemed to fade out.—While the form of a canopy or of a gigantic transparent umbrella was still retained there were constant changes in progress among the rays of light and in the arrangement of the colors; but every change was harmonious, and new and brilliant effects were constantly produced as though the magnificent components of the Aurora had been chopped into pieces, and placed in a titanic kaleideascope, through which the beholder watched the celestial fire works, as the gigantic instrument revolved, and brought about new and still more exquisite combinations and effects. The crown of the heavenly canopy had a murky red appearance, which extended east and west, intensifying near the eastern and western horizon into deep and brilliant crimson. In the north the spurs of light assumed colors which varied in hue and intensity almost momentarily; green and blue were the principal colors in this portion of the display. The stars, which shone brilliantly in the southern heavens, and which could be seen glimmering through the polar canopy, added greatly to the beauty of the spectacle."

The cause of the phenomenon has for years past been a subject of much speculation among the learned of the world, but nothing certain or reliable has ever been produced. Astronomers have told us that it was the reflection of the Arctic iceberg under the illumination of the God of Day; but rational as the idea seems, philosophers have hooted at it, and attempted to explain it on electrical principles—philosophers in their turn, have been laughed at, and the matter has been an uncertain mystery. Yet the results of Sunday night's display have proved beyond doubt that electricity has, to say the least, a great deal to do with the so-called Aurora Borealis of the Temperate Zones. All over our State, (we read in our exchanges,) the telegraphic wires were rendered useless on that evening, and at Harrisburg one of the operators chanced to touch one of the wires, and was "thrown, by the violence of the shock which he received, across the room." And, moreover, philosophy as now taught, (and actual observation,) demonstrates the fact that the Earth's atmosphere, when surcharged with electricity, is rendered frigid, and on Sunday night last, our citizens were forced to add an additional blanket to their beds, to prevent a chill—not to mention the visible frost on Monday morning. A new subject for investigation, at any rate, is presented to our philosophers, and we think they will finally and universally adopt the opinion that electricity has more to do with the phenomenon of the Northern Lights than the reflection of the sun upon the icebergs of the Arctic Regions.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—On Thursday morning last, as Geo. Wohn, clerk in Plack's store across the way, was opening the store, he observed a man passing with several pair of boots and a pair of shoes on his arm. The man looked a little suspicious, which prompted George to ask him where he had obtained his goods, and the stranger replied that he had got them at the Peoples' Cheap Shoe Store. This confirmed George's suspicion, as he observed that the proprietor of the Shoe Store had not yet opened his establishment and consequently was not about, and he plied the fellow with a few more questions which he could not answer satisfactorily, when he determined to take the boots from the chap, to which operation he did not seriously object, but afterwards made himself scarce. When Mr. Kimball opened his store shortly afterwards, he missed several pair of boots which had been left hanging close to the show window, and on examination he found that one half of a broken pane of glass had been slid up past the other, and the boots thus taken out. On making known his loss the boots captured a short time previous were shown him and immediately identified. When we consider that this operation was performed after daylight and when a number of persons were on the street, we think it about as bold an one as could well be undertaken.

MINISTERIAL.—Our town, we venture to say, is blessed, in every church, with not only good pastors, but very excellent preachers, and our people would be pleased to listen nightly to their productions of mind and spirit; yet it is extremely gratifying occasionally, both to people and pastors, to have a change in the shape of a learned minister of the Gospel, from a distance. Altoona, from the inducements it holds out to invalids and suffering denizens of heated Cities, in the summer season, is blessed particularly, with strange preachers. On Sunday last, Rev. Dr. Alday from the Philadelphia Conference preached two most excellent sermons in the Methodist church. He is a perfect linguist, fluent indeed; and in thought fruitful and profound. May we look upon his like again.—Our Presbyterian friends, also, were treated to two interesting and learned discourses by Rev. Samuel Wilson. All who heard him were much gratified and benefitted.

DEPARTED.—On Saturday evening last, our young friend Kimball, proprietor of the "Peoples' Shoe Store," called to bid us farewell, having determined to pitch his tent in another locality. We were sorry to part with such a whole-souled fellow, but presume he knew his own business best, and therefore all we can do is to wish him a good location, a good run of customers and a good time generally in the future.

ALTOONA SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.—This Association will meet in the Presbyterian Church to-morrow evening, at half past 7 o'clock. Let there be a full attendance of the members of the Association, in order that the meeting may be interesting and the cause of Sabbath Schools promoted.

The following subjects, selected for discussion some time since, will be taken up at the meeting to-morrow evening:

1st. What are the requisite qualifications of a good Sabbath School Teacher?

2nd. What are some of the particular defects in a teacher which renders failure of success most frequent?

3rd. What are the qualifications of an efficient Sabbath School Superintendent.

4th. How can we secure a more general co-operation of the membership of the churches in the Sabbath School enterprise?

There will also be a discussion on a resolution offered at last meeting, to do away with Sunday School celebrations or picnics.

☞ A correspondent writing from Duncansville, gives us an account of a pic nic held in Moore's Grove, at the foot of Plane 10, which must have been a pleasant gathering. Revs. Junkin and Fichtner were present and delivered appropriate addresses. He says further, that "there are hopes entertained here that the Portage Iron Works will start soon, but it is quite uncertain. Every one in this vicinity is praying that they may start and thereby revive business in Duncansville." The examination of teachers for Allegheny school district came off on Tuesday of last week. The applicants, with one exception, were quite young men. The following selections were made by the Directors:

Duncansville, 1st school—Mr. Suitor.
" 2d " " John Clingerman.
Foot of Ten—Mr. Ingersoll.
Benington—Mr. D. M. Albaugh.
Sugar Run—Mr. J. Alex. Black.
Spencer's Run—Mr. H. A. Conrad.
Dysart's—Mr. J. M. Stiffler.

THE PRESBYTERIAN COLONY.—The Presbyterian Colony project is getting along finely, as we understand from Mr. Crawford, the Secretary. He informs us that ninety-one men, (most of them having families,) have signified a desire to embark in the enterprise, and have offered to invest some $50,000 in it. Their vocations are varied and suitable, comprising farmers, carpenters, cabinet-makers, tinners, printers, teachers, preachers, stone-masons, merchants, attorneys, clerks, &c. &c. Having now secured about the complement fixed upon in the first place, the managers of the affair will issue a call for a meeting of those interested, to be held in the course of a few weeks, to appoint a committee to visit and report upon proposed locations for the colony, &c. Several points are offered, and strong inducements are held out to secure the settlement, but no one is able to give anything more than a vague guess as to where the choice will fall.—Persons at any time desiring information as to the Colony, should address John A. Crawford, Hollidaysburg, Pa., enclosing a P. O. stamp.—Hol. Register.

ALTOONA GAS AND WATER WORKS.—Quite a large force of men are now at work laying the gas and water pipes through the streets, excavating the basins for the water and gas and laying the foundation of the gas house. Should the weather prove favorable, and all the pipe arrive in time, the works will be completed by the first, or, at farthest, the middle of November. It is the intention of the company to have all the pipe laid down through the streets by the time the reservoir and gas works are finished, so that water and gas can be conveyed to all parts of the town as soon as it is received into the reservoir and manufactured at the gas house. Those who wish either should signify their desire to the proper persons immediately, so that the pipes may be tapped opposite their residences or places of business, as they are laid down, thus saving trouble hereafter.

SHOW ABOUT.—On Monday morning last, a travelling caravan stopped at this place and pitched a tent on a vacant lot up street, and hung out a number of life-size pictures—one of a lady called the snake-tamer, who performed various feats with the subtle enemy who tempted and betrayed mother Eve. Another of a mermaid, with a woman's head and fishes tail, likely the same one we read of in P. T. Barnum's life of himself together with others which we did not stop to admire. Very few of our citizens exhibiting a desire to "go in" and "get squeezed" or humbugged, the proprietor pulled up stakes and left next morning. The people of Altoona have been so much surfeited with exhibitions of this kind lately, that it now requires something extra to draw a crowd at such entertainments.

BOYS IN THE "LOCK-UP."—Two small boys, whose names we did not learn, were placed in the "Lock-Up" on Tuesday morning last, charged with stealing plums. "The way of the transgressor is hard," and they have early found it so. We hope it may prove a warning to them. We think it right to inflict punishment on boys for a crime like this, and hope that more examples may be made, but plum thieves are not the only ones who should be thus dealt with.—There are a number of boys about town who are continually in some kind of mischief—quarrelling, fighting, throwing stones, &c—who deserve a few hours in the "Lock-Up," and we have the authority of our Constable for saying that he has his eye on some of them and will look them up some day before they are aware of it.

ADDRESS.—Judge Taylor, of Huntingdon, has accepted the invitation of the Managers of the Blair County Agricultural Society, to deliver an address on the occasion of the coming Fair.—Those who know the man need not be told that it will be well worth listening to, and to those who have not had the pleasure of hearing him, we can promise that it will be one replete with information.

CHANGE.—The time of holding the Military Encampment at Tyrone, has been changed from the 17th of October to the 19th of September. It is expected that quite a number of companies from adjoining counties will be in attendance. The committee of arrangements are now busily engaged in fitting up the ground, and will have everything in good order.

SINGING SCHOOL.—Prof. G. W. Huey, of Pittsburgh, is now in this place, for the purpose of getting up a class of children and giving instructions in vocal music.—The Prof. comes highly recommended by the ministers, lawyers and other prominent citizens of Greensburg, Johnstown, Ebensburg, and all places where he has been giving instructions. The Ebensburg Mountaineer, in noticing his farewell concert in that place, given on Monday night last, says: "We scarcely thought it possible for children to attain to such proficiency in so short a time. The harmony exhibited was really astonishing, and in every portion of the exercise, evidence was given that a master hand had been training them."

THANKS.—The Ladies of St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Church, Altoona, desire to return their thanks to the directors and members of the Altoona Mechanics' Library and Reading Room Association for their kindness and courtesy in granting the use of their room; and also to the Welsh Miners Glee Club and the auctioneers for their valuable and efficient aid rendered during the Fair.

SCHOOL BOOKS.—H. Fettinger has just received an extensive assortment of the various kinds of school books used in this place and surrounding districts, which he will sell at a small advance on first cost. Also, all kinds of stationery, such as copy books, pens, pencils, inks, slates, &c., all of which will be sold cheap. Clark's Writing Fluid is just suited to school purposes.

ABOUT TO LEAVE.—Our excellent dentist, Dr. W. S. Bittner, informs us that he is preparing to start on a visit to his friends, in the course of a week or so, and that he will be absent for four weeks; therefore, all those who wish anything in his line should call during the latter part of the present week or beginning of next.

NOTICE.—The fourth instalment on the capital Stock of the Altoona Gas and Water Company will be due and made payable at the Banking House of Wm. M. Lloyd & Co., on the 16th day of September.

B. F. ROSE, Secretary.
Altoona, Sept. 1, 1859-3t.

Sunday School Celebration.

MESSRS. MCCRUM & DERN:—The scholars, teachers and friends of the "Union Sabbath School," belonging to the vicinity of Gwin's School House, in Logan township, held a celebration on Thursday last, 25th inst. At nine o'clock in the morning the scholars and teachers met in the school-room and afterwards formed in procession in classes, each teacher taking the head of his or her class. In front was carried a beautifully painted and decorated banner, having on one side the words "UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL," and on the other side the words "JUST AS THE TWIG IS BENT THE TREE'S INCLINED." For this banner the school is mainly indebted to the late lamented Dr. G. D. Thomas, of Altoona, who procured it for the school some two months previous to his death. Thus they marched under the supervision of the officers of the school—their only music the sweet voices of the children who sang "Away, away to the Sabbath School,"—until they reached the grove selected for the future exercises of the day, near the residence of the Superintendent, (Hon. J. L. Gwin) where, after a short address by him, the school was dismissed. A number of swings had been put up which were soon resorted to by those fond of that amusement, while others joined in friendly conversation. Here were to be found the aged, who had attained their fourscore years, down to the little prattler in its mothers arms. Parents, children and grand-children were brought together—friendships were renewed—neighbors met not as they ordinarily meet, having only time to speak and part, but with leisure to hold friendly conversation with each other. It is thus a community is strengthened in its friendships and its plans of usefulness. There the Sabbath school as a living reality is brought before the vision of many who, perhaps do not see it at other times.—The very looks of the children seemed to say "come then with us (to the Sabbath School) and we will do thee good."

The table having been spread, all were invited to come and partake of the goods things with which it was so bountifully ladened. After thanks were offered to Almighty God for his goodness in sending the rain, the fruitful season and abundant harvest, and his blessing implored, all present to the number of 130 or 140 partook of the dinner. Dinner over, two of the scholars recited a dialogue and two others delivered addresses which were listened to with interest. A discussion was then had as to the propriety of Sunday School celebrations. After hearing of both sides, a vote was taken which showed a large majority in favor of annual celebrations. A resolution was also adopted favoring the holding of a Convention of the friends of Sabbath Schools at an early day. The scholars were then dismissed to engage in their recreations until the time to return to their homes arrived. A number of persons from Altoona and other parts of the county were present and expressed themselves well pleased, not a single incident occurred to mar the pleasure of the day. Thus ended the third annual celebration of the school referred to. May it greatly prosper and abound in good works is the sincere wish of your correspondent. LOGAN.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.
It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.
For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.
Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.
FEVER AND AGUE.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.
For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.
CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS; and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA,
DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,
LIVER COMPLAINT,
WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND
FEVER AND AGUE,
Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.
This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.
It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.
CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful remedy has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT.

"For the last twelve years I have been more or less troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism, commencing early in the Spring, and lasting until cold weather set in, when I would be relieved for a while, only to be attacked again in the Spring. All my joints would swell and be very sore, attended with the most acute pain. My feet, shoulders, arms, and hands troubled me most, so much so that I could scarcely walk, and almost always required assistance in dressing. During this time I would try everything I could hear of, in the hope of finding a cure. I also tried several physicians, but nothing seemed to help me the least in the world. About two and a half years ago I was attacked as usual, and as usual tried everything to get rid of it, but to no purpose. I kept growing worse, and finally had to give up and stay in the house, where I was confined about four weeks. This time my feet swelled, and were so sore that I could not stand on them or get on my boots, and my hands swelled to twice their usual size. In fact, I was, to all appearances and belief, totally used up. About this time my parents, who reside in Maine, sent for me to come home. I went and after my arrival I commenced trying another remedy, hoping to be cured, but resulting the same as all others. For weeks I had not been able to dress myself or to raise my hand to my head, and suffering the most excruciating pain all the time. One day my father came in with a paper in which was advertised Dr. Coggswell's MEDICAL SALT, for Inflammatory Diseases only, and wanted me to read and see what I thought of it. I read and laughed at it, pronounced it a humbug, and told him that I had been humbugged enough. He kept urging me, and at last said I could but try it, and if I would write to Dr. C., giving him a description of my disease, he would pay the expense. Of course I could not refuse such an offer and sent for one box. It came in due season, but my faith was not increased, and I laughed at the idea of so small a dose doing me any good, and told my wife that I believed Dr. C. and his Salt, both humbugs—However, I commenced using it and the result was perfectly astonishing. I could hardly realize it myself. I slept soundly all night, which I had not done for a long time, and when I awoke in the morning, strange as it may seem, I was entirely free from pain. I had then taken but one dose, and bathed freely before going to bed. That morning I felt so well that I hardly knew how to contain myself, and went down stairs and told the folks how well I felt, and from that day to this I have not suffered one moment's pain or had an attack of my once dreaded enemy, Rheumatism. I am perfectly well and hearty, and wherever I have a chance I recommend it. A friend of mine, residing in Brooklyn, is now trying it for a bad case of neuralgic rheumatism, and so far it is working admirably—This is a long story, but I have told all the facts, which I can bring witnesses to substantiate if necessary; and will again say that in the MEDICAL SALT, a sure cure may be found for all inflammatory diseases, and would advise all who are afflicted to give it a trial. GEO. H. DUNCAN.
No. 117 Wall Street, New York.

When it is remembered that the MEDICAL SALT is as efficacious in all other Inflammatory diseases as in Rheumatism, (see descriptive circulars) it will at once be seen that it is a most valuable remedy. Surely those thus afflicted will find in their own condition and in the above statements, enough to induce them to give the MEDICAL SALT a trial.
Price $1,00; Chronic packages, $2,50.

RED LION HOTEL,
ALTOONA, BLAIR COUNTY, PA.
This old established and popular HOTEL, located nearly opposite the place of stopping the passenger cars in Altoona, has passed into the hands of the present proprietor.—Long experience in the business warrants me in assuring the travelling public that no pains will be spared to render guests as comfortable as possible while sojourning under my roof.
The TABLE will constantly be supplied with the very best the market affords.
The BAR will be found to contain an excellent assortment of LIQUORS of all kinds, including that choice beverage LAGER BEER.
The STABLE is in charge of an excellent and experienced Ostler.
The proprietor hopes, by his long experience in the busines and the facilities at his command, to make the Red Lion, in all respects, a first class Hotel. The business of the Hotel will be under my own personal supervision. A liberal share of public patronage is kindly solicited.

A CARD.—Hear what Mrs. Vaughn of Duncansville says:—I have used the Galvanic Oil prepared by J. D. Stonerood, Lewistown, Pa., for a very painful disease myself and recommend it to others, and in every case found it to be one of the very best medicines for sore and painful diseases. Relieves all pain in a few minutes. Every family should have it in the house.

NEW AGRICULTURAL SETTLEMENT.—To all wanting Farms, a rare opportunity in a delightful and healthy climate 25 miles Southeast of Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad New Jersey.

An old estate consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser. A population of some Fifteen Hundred, from various parts of the Middle States and New England have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The price of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre, the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vineyards and Peach orchards, planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.
as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.
Produce bringing double the price than is locations away from the city, and better than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.
In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest. In the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.
In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.
The reader will at once be struck with the advantages there presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.
There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, the Railroad Company gives a Free Ticket for six months, and a half-price Ticket for three years.
THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.
In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements and Founderies for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would effect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards.
The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.
Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance when money is paid. Route to the land; leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia for Hammonton by Railroad, at 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal, until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense. Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic Co., New Jersey, or S. B. Coughlin, 202 South Fifth Street, Philadelphia.—Maps and information cheerfully furnished.
